

EQUAL OPPORTUNITIES POLICY

The Organisation

Through our work we aim:

To challenge- ourselves, those we work with and our audiences. To remain current, fresh and true to our artistic vision Exim aim to always provoke and question, pushing ourselves and our audiences that little bit further and never stepping back.

To excite- no matter what we are doing be it a new production or a regular community class we want to be exciting and excited! To always find something new in what we do, to explore and unearth new possibilities in movement, people and situations.

To pass on- providing opportunities and support for others at every stage of their life or their career. We believe that everyone should be able to access engage and enjoy dance and aim to make contemporary dance more accessible to wider audiences whether watching or participating.

To be adaptable- through our fresh outlook and extensive skill set we aim to work in a way that can be applied to any situation without compromise.

We are committed to these ideals and we find they help us provide an honest approach to our work. Merging them helps us to provide a custom and distinct service for the people we work with. As a company we enjoy a diversity in our practice and draw on many ideas, themes and situations to enrich our practice and performance.

Exim Dance Company CIC values the diverse cultures, environments and communities of which it is a part. We believe people have the right to be treated equally and oppose discrimination in all its forms. We recognise value and respect diversity, and understand the importance of creating a fair and just environment. We do this through our existing policies and monitoring procedures which are reviewed annually and by taking practical action where possible.

Exim Dance Company CIC is fully committed to social justice, equality of opportunity and the elimination of all forms of discrimination as a fundamental principle of its work. We carefully consider opportunities and specific issues around equality and diversity in service design, implementation planning and delivery. We are committed to ensuring that no individual or group of people is less favourably treated or denied opportunities because of their background, for example:

- Ethnic or cultural origin
- Nationality (or statelessness)
- Religion, faith or belief
- Social or economic background
- Class
- Locality
- Gender
- Sexuality

- Transgender
- Age
- Apparent and non-apparent disability or recovery from mental illness
- Long term health problems
- Trade union membership
- Employment status
- Marital status and civil partnerships
- Caring responsibilities
- HIV status
- Pregnancy, Maternity and Paternity
- Unrelated criminal conviction

or because of association with others who experience the above.

Exim demonstrates its commitment to these issues by adopting an Equal Opportunities & Diversity Policy which gives guidance on diversity practices, service provision, and the general work of the organisation.

This policy applies to directors, staff, and volunteers employed by or working for Exim. Aspects of this policy also apply to consultants engaged by Exim and to those organisations with whom we work in partnership through our services. In addition we expect that consultants, partners and other organisations will have their own policies and procedures that reflect similar principles to our own.

Equal Opportunities & Diversity Policy

This policy aims to ensure that Exim creates equal opportunities for all current and potential Board Directors, Steering Group members, paid staff, volunteers, users of our services and organisations with which we work. Its success will depend on everyone having a full understanding of diversity and equal opportunities and co-operating in the policy's implementation.

Exim recognises that the city of Plymouth is socially and culturally diverse and believes its work is enriched by the different qualities and experience brought to Exim.

Exim seeks to ensure that our work programme and other services reflect the perspectives of Plymouth communities, and that our paid staff, Board Directors and Steering Group members, service providers, users of our services and volunteers composition is representative of those communities. Where under-representation, or where an obstacle to participation is identified, every effort will be made to attract, encourage and support participation and application by that sector of the community.

Organisations

Exim will seek to raise awareness of cultural diversity, equal opportunities and anti-discrimination policy and practice by the provision of projects and activities.

Exim Equal Opportunities & Diversity Policy will be available on its website www.eximdance.org.uk

Monitoring and Evaluation

The Equal Opportunities & Diversity Policy will be reviewed annually in order to evaluate its effectiveness and that it complies with current legislation. The review will be carried out by the Directors. Information from the recruitment monitoring forms and other relevant information, for instance examples of breaches of the policy or changes in national and regional agendas, will be examined by the Directors to ensure that the Equal Opportunities & Diversity Policy itself is up-to-date, and that our other policies and practices are fully compliant.

Action Plan

Following the annual review an action plan will be put in place to ensure the actions identified through the monitoring and evaluation process are implemented, that the training and professional development programme is current and that we understand what the policy means to our work.
